8:45 p.m. Adjourn

Laura Sutherly

Laura hails from eastern Ohio, but has long made Miami County home. She and her husband operate a diversified cattle and grain operation with a commercial grain and fertilizer retail business. She is also the owner and operator of Correspond in a Click, a web design and social media business. Hear how Laura uses social media and her experiences in Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's AgriPOWER Institute to address consumer concerns about how their food is raised.

Emily Adams

Emily serves as Extension educator in Coshocton County. Utilizing her food science expertise, she helps food business entrepreneurs with regulatory, product development and direct marketing opportunities. She has a passion for growing confidence and connections for women in agriculture. Over 50 women completed Annie's Project in Coshocton County, and Emily works with both ANR and FCS Extension colleagues to coordinate and teach the annual East Ohio Women in Agriculture Conference. Emily's most important role is mom to 9-year-old Nathan and 7-year-old Julia.

Jess Campbell

Jess is the co-owner and operator of Carroll Creek Farms, a small family farm that specializes in beef, pork, lamb, chicken and eggs and offers memberships in a CSA (Community Supported Agriculture). Listen as Jess gives her background on growing up in the suburbs and starting a farm from the ground up. She will give tips on how she uses her day job as an agri-consumer loan officer for Farm Credit Mid-America, her role as the president of Warren County Farm Bureau and as a farm operator to advocate for agriculture locally and at the state and national levels.
